Election/Restrictions

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 2-7-2006 has been entered.

This amendment however newly introduces claims restricted to mutually exclusive species, the claims previously being generic, and thus a new species election is required to be detail below.

Additionally, it is noted that claim 12 remains withdrawn as being directed to an invention that is independent or distinct from the invention originally claimed for the reasons set forth in the last office action. Further, newly submitted claim 20 is directed to an invention that is independent or distinct from the invention originally claimed as it relates to an entirely different tire construction, i.e. characterized by a spring support system as opposed to the remaining claims directed to modular tires characterized by certain inflatable means. Since applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claims 12 and 20 are withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03.

Species Election

1. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

A: cells including sealant coating on the inner walls of the individual air cells (to be inflated through a needle - see page 22, item "15" of the specification).

B: cells inflated through a valve.

The species are independent or distinct because they represent mutually exclusive embodiments of the invention as originally described. Applicant is advised however that the claims include some apparent inconsistencies with the original disclosure and seem to mix these embodiments contrary to the original disclosure. In particular, claim 1 seems restricted to species A (note the reference to sealant) but dependent claims 3 and 11 seem restricted to species B and thus seem to conflict with claim 1 and the original disclosure - i.e. the original disclosure does not appear to support such a combination - note that page 22, item 15 discloses one or the other type of inflation, not both in combination).

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, at least claims 4 and 8 are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species.

MPEP § 809.02(a).

2. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
